

1 Receiver

The receiver operates within the declared electrical conditions.

The standard defines the maximum permitted differential output voltage as 150